Frank Hart and Walter Stokes Return from Mountain Climb.

REACHED RAINIERS SUMMIT

Astoria Men in Company With Mazamas and Kindred Organizations Monument. Report a Most Enjoyable Time.

Frank Hart and Walter Stokes returned Saturday night after a climb to the summit of Mt. Rainier, Wash., with the Mazamas and members of the American Alpine, Sierra and Appalachian clubs. Messrs. Hart and Stokes left here July 14 and report the most enjoyable two weeks they have spent in their entire lives. The climb was exciting and offered all the interest and perils of the ascent of the Matterhorn or Weiserhorn of the Swiss Alps, life-lines and alpenstock being necessary on more than one occasion.

Messrs. Hart and Stokes joined the combined forces of the mountain-earring clubs and were conveyed to Tacoma in a special train. The trip is best described by Frank Hart, who was interviewed last night.

"From Tacoma," said Mr. Hart, "we went to Ashford in a special. From this place we went to Longmire's springs, spending two days there. Our next point was Paradise valley where we camped. From here we made numerous little side trips, visiting Eagle and Pinnacle peaks and Nisqually and Cowitz glaciers. These last were extremely interesting. First snow was encountered in places in Paradise valley, but remarkable to note, flowers of the most beautiful description and in great variety and rich in color and perfume were growing beside the snow.

"We next made Muir camp where we stopped for the night at an elevation of 9600 feet. At 4:30 in the morning the ascent to the summit was commenced and I can not say that it was very formidable even though this was my first mountain climbing. Going around Gibraltar rock, however, we had to use both life-lines and the alpenstock. It was necessary for us to cut niches in the wall of rock for foothold. There were thirty-nine in our party, of whom seventeen were women, and we reached the summit, 14,528 feet, about 1 o'clock. The sky was the most perfect blue I have ever seen, but below spread a haze or a mist and we could see but little.

"While grouped about the summit a number of huge boulders broke loose and plunged down the mountain side and almost upon the party following us. The contour here was unusually sheer and the climbers had little opportunity to move one way or the other, but fortunately no one was hurt.

"The descent was commenced at 3 o'clock and we reached Paradise valley about 8 P. M. The snow was most inviting and we coasted the greater part of the way. Well, we are all home safe and had a splendid time." The names of Messrs. Hart and Stokes are now contained in the Mazama box at the summit of Mt. Rainier and both gentlemen are full-fledged members of the order.

MICHIGAN CARP.

W. E. Cole, Authority on Vertebrates, Assist Anglers in Dilemma.

W. E. Cole, the only successful Isaac Walton and supposed to be an authority on all kinds of fish, returned from a fishing trip to his reserve, Saturday, bringing back a new variety of fish, which with all of his great piscatorial knowledge, he was unable to give them a name, not knowing whether they were French snails or Irish lobsters.

Several experts were interviewed and all had a guess, and had it not been for the Astoria man, the name would never have been known. They were simply the celebrated Michigan striped bass, which were planted in Cullary lake about twenty years ago. They seldom raise to a fly and never take bait, but are usually caught with a troll. They differ from carp, in that the striped bass are a toothsome delicacy, while a carp is only fit for fertilizer, and hardly that. Mr. Cole has already secured an order for several tons of the bass. Leave orders at the Cole.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the St. Agnes' Guild of Grace church will be held in the vestry room this evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present. Business of importance.

SABBATH AT BEACH

Sunday Traffic to Watering Place Continues Heavy.

THOUSANDS VISIT AT SEASIDE

Beach City. Draws Big Crowds From Astoria and the Exposition City. Surf Bathers Take Advantage of Early High Tide. Hotels Crawded.

The crowd at Seaside yesterday compared very favorably with that of last Sunday, fully two thousand people taking advantage of the favorable weather and visiting the beach resort. The first train from Astoria was well filled with representative people. The through train from Portland brought eighteen cars, packed to the doors with human freight, thousands anxious to enjoy a breath of invigorating salt air.

Apparently there is a good natured rivalry between Seaside and the beaches on the Washington shore. Devotees of the surf seem divided in their opinions as to which is the most attractive but all are holding their own and the crowds are fairly even. A great many of the people who visited Seaside yesterday went to join their families who are occupying the picturesquely located summer cottages.

The surf continues popular. Enthusiasts were gratified by a high tide which materialized before noon. No sooner had the bathing restriction been removed than the seething waves were dotted with a goodly number of bathers representing both sexes; in fact, the fairer sex predominated. As usual the picnic parties were in evidence and more than a score gatherings of revelers could be seen along the immaculate strand.

Seaside's hostilities were taxed to their utmost capacities. Patronage was very evenly divided and all hotel men report an exceptionally good day. More than two hundred persons registered at the Moore before luncheon and the guests at the other hostilities, whose accommodations are not so great as Mine Host Moore's, in number, compared very favorably. Locksley hall, the Colonial and the other hotels put forth unusual effort and took excellent care of their guests.

The launching of the lifeboat was very exciting. A high surf was running when the amateur life savers ventured into the water. People hurried from all parts of the beach to witness the performance which occurred shortly before 2 o'clock. The beach, in the immediate vicinity of the lifeboat, was black with people when the nose of the craft first touched the water. Jumping into the boat the tiller was manned by the skipper and four hardy amateurs laid hand to the oars.

Through sheer force of energy the boat was pushed through the formidable breakers. Rising until almost perpendicular on the crest of a mighty wave, the boat suddenly plunged into the trough of the sea and apparently under the surface only to rise again majestically on the ensuing roller. The boat was guided beyond beyond the swells to a point fully a mile from shore where after going through various maneuvers the crew turned their craft for the return trip. A successful landing was made.

Superintendent McGuire, of the A. & C. R. R., again was on hand to supervise the mobilization of the great crowds. The evening train of eighteen cars was filled and passed through the city on time, leaving a very large Astoria contingent at the depot.

EASTERN VISITORS.

A large number of Eastern visitors arrived in Astoria yesterday and Saturday night and all of the hotels were taxed to their utmost capacity. They have been visiting the fair in Portland and the warm weather has driven them to the coast for invigorating sea breezes. A number of them remained in Astoria yesterday, visiting many of the points of interest, and a large number went to Seaside, returning last evening. Most of them will remain in Astoria today visiting the canneries and cold storage plants. Some of them are looking for locations for investment and residence, having either been drowned out in the East or blown out in Kansas and Oklahoma. They expressed themselves as well pleased with Astoria and its surroundings and asked for copies of the local papers.

WATER FRONT NOTES.

POLL TAX COLLECTIONS.

Road Supervisor D. R. Blount is having some difficulty to collect poll tax from the fishermen. He believes that if the cannerymen would assist in the matter, a large amount of money could be collected. As all the money collected for poll tax is used for the building and repair of the county roads within the city limits, those whose duty it is to contribute their share of the expenses in payment of the privileges and protection they enjoy, would not attempt to evade the payment. Clatsop will need all the revenue it can secure and like the "widow's mite," every little helps.

MAY LOSE TERRITORY.

Surveyors Say that Part of Vermont Belongs to Canada.

New Port, Vt., July 30.—A population of more than forty-eight hundred persons on a strip of territory several miles in length and from a half mile to a mile in width, containing three townships, may be lost to the United States through the findings of the surveyors representing the United States and Canada, who have just completed the inspection of the boundary line between the two countries.

As a result of the survey the towns of Richford, East Richford and Seven Mills, which lie within the territory always supposed to be part of the State of Vermont, are declared to rightfully belong to Canada. It is at Richford that the Chinese detention station is located. Hundreds of Celestials have been detained here, and there is some question in the minds of the authorities if their acts may not have been illegal, as the officers of the United States were exercising authority on what is now claimed to be Canadian territory.

That Gunn is all right.
